

PROPOSAL CONCERNING THE POLITICAL DECLARATION OF THE UN GENERAL ASSEMBLY SPECIAL SESSION AGAINST CORRUPTION

13 April 2021

Dear UN Member States,

We commend the UN General Assembly's decision to hold a Special Session against corruption (UNGASS against Corruption) in June this year and to adopt a political declaration for that meeting. The COVID-19 pandemic makes it especially urgent that the UNGASS against Corruption yield results since the scale of the global corruption problem undermines efforts to tackle the disease. We are writing to you to urge that the UNGASS against Corruption establish an expert working group to develop technical proposals for new frameworks and mechanisms that would address weaknesses in the current international legal framework and infrastructure.

The negotiations for the political declaration that are due to conclude in early May, have been about text that largely reiterates language in the UN Convention against Corruption (UNCAC) and associated resolutions, with a few small advances. However, new commitments are urgently needed that are bold, clear and concrete. While the adoption of the UNCAC in 2003 was a landmark achievement, in the years since its entry into force in 2005, there has been little progress in tackling global corruption based on the UNCAC framework and its review mechanism. Moreover, lessons have been learned since 2005 that point to the need to strengthen, expand or add to existing legal and institutional frameworks.

The state of play in 2020 was summarised by the United Nations Secretariat in its Common position to address global corruption, which said that corruption and the looting of staggering amounts of assets undermine the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), have a negative impact on peace, stability, security, the rule of law, gender equality, the environment and human rights, and contribute to the spread of terrorism and violent extremism.¹ That document pointed to pervasive corruption networks that often include politicians, civil servants working at all levels of state institutions, representatives of the private sector and members of crime syndicates. It noted that complex, multi-jurisdictional corruption scandals perpetrated by these organised networks, sometimes involving the highest levels of government, result in loss of resources and undermine public trust in democracy and the rule of law. In short, the UNCAC is proving inadequate to counter globalised corruption. Thus, new approaches should be considered.

Many valuable and innovative ideas have been presented to the UNGASS negotiating body, including those cited in the UN Common Position annex and recommendations made in the Oslo Statement on Corruption Involving Vast Quantities of Assets.² These merit in-depth consideration that has not been possible in the negotiations for the UNGASS political declaration.

² Oslo Statement on Corruption Involving Vast Quantities of Assets \(2019\)

For this reason, we call on UN member states to commit in the UNGASS declaration to establishing an open-ended intergovernmental expert working group - including experts from civil society, academia, private sector and other relevant stakeholders - to prepare concrete, technical proposals for supplementary frameworks and mechanisms to address gaps in the UNCAC. The proposals of this working group should be presented to the UNCAC Conference of States Parties and the Conference of Parties of the UN Convention against Transnational Organized Crime for their joint consideration.

Sincerely,

Global and Regional Non-Governmental Organisations
